We prioritize sustainability

Meta will be water positive in 2030, where we restore more water than we consume.

Meta-supported projects are adding 1,299MW of new renewable energy in Texas.

Our global operations, including our data centers and offices, are supported by 100% renewable energy and have reached net zero emissions.

Meta's global fleet of data centers support our technologies that empower more than 3 billion people around the world to share ideas, offer support and make a difference.

Partnering with Texas

We are committed to supporting the community through hiring people to build and operate our data center, volunteering and supporting local schools, nonprofits and community projects.

Supporting local schools and nonprofits

One way we support the community is through our annual Data Center Community Action Grants program and other direct funding for projects that put the power of technology to use for community benefit, connect people online or off and improve STEM education.

New renewable energy investments

Meta worked with multiple partners to meet our 100% renewable energy goals for the Fort Worth Data Center. This includes supporting six new renewable energy projects in Texas.

Minimizing water use

We are proud to build some of the most sustainable data centers in the world and prioritize onsite water efficiency. The Fort Worth Data Center:

- Uses cooling technology that is significantly more efficient than the industry standard.
- Reuses water numerous times before discharging it as wastewater.
- Is landscaped with native and drought resistant vegetation.
- Captures and infiltrates rainwater on site.
- Utilizes water saving fixtures and technologies within data center facilities.

Community Spotlight

Since our Fort Worth Data Center went online in 2017, we've supported organizations and projects that meet community needs, including:

- Fort Worth Independent School District to build a mobile Virtual Reality STEM Lab for high school students, provide Tynker licenses for elementary schools, recognize exemplary Career & Technical Education teachers and various other initiatives to expand STEM programming for students.
- National Juneteenth Museum to support the development of a state-of-the-art learning museum representing the global significance of freedom and the celebration of Juneteenth worldwide.
- Camp Fire First to support STEAM-focused learning in Pre-K12 out-of-school programs with hands-on activities to explore coding, robotics, engineering, and physical science.
- Hope Center for Autism to support a STEM lab allowing students with autism to have more exposure and hands-on experiences in STEM subjects and develop creativity within math and science.
